

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's meet an adventurous character!

Learning Outcome

Describe detailed facts about events or actions in work and social contexts, in written or spoken situations.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever had an accident or injury when doing a sport? What happened?
- Which adventurous activities have you tried?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about sports and leisure time.
- I can express complex statements using words like who, that or which.
- I can talk about where something is done.

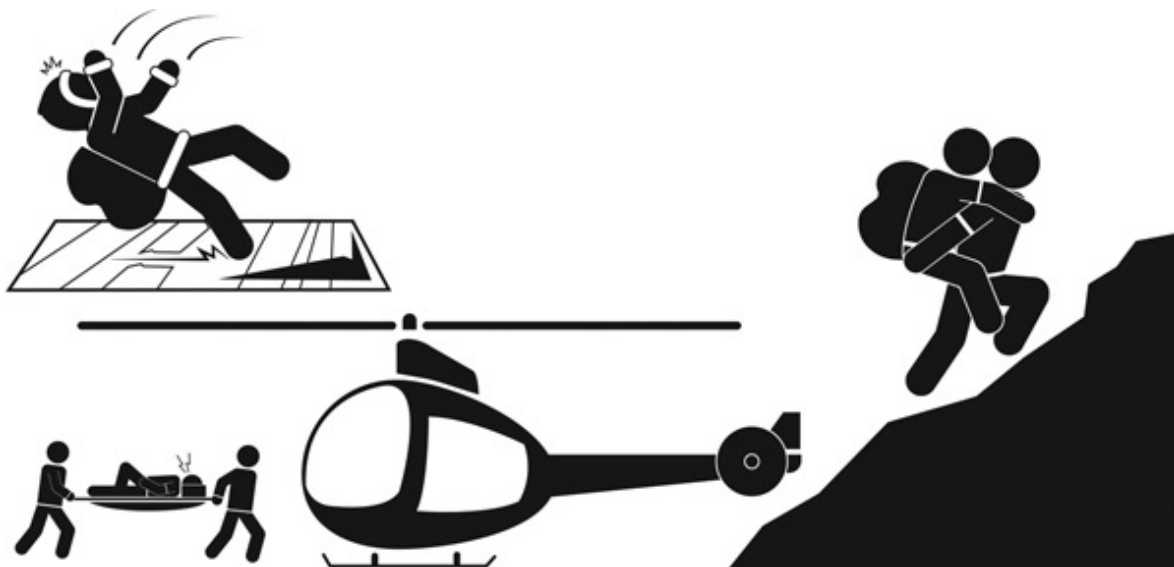

Let's Explore!

Danielle gets back on the horse.

* To get "back on the horse" means to try something even after you have had an accident.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Several years ago, Danielle, who is an expert climber, survived a fall from one of the tallest mountain peaks in Alaska. She had been scaling a steep cliff with two other enthusiasts when she lost her grip and fell. She was told at the time that her injuries, which were quite severe, might prevent her from ever walking again. She had broken her hip bone and had only limited movement in her left foot.

Danielle, who had always had a tenacious spirit, was determined to walk again. She spent over a year in the local hospital, which specializes in mountaineering injuries, and then several months in a wheelchair. In a world where there is so much pessimism, she never once lost her positive outlook. Her recovery was slow, but one and a half years after the accident, Danielle was able to stand on her feet and walk. The doctors thought it was a remarkable recovery. But for Danielle, walking was not enough. She dreamed of climbing again.

Today, Danielle is fulfilling her dream. She is back on the mountain and enters competitions wherever she travels, and she is willing to go anywhere good climbing can be found. Everywhere she goes, people ask her how she manages to do it. Danielle claims her success is due to dedication and persistence. She says, "I never gave up. I exercise as often as I can and always look for opportunities to climb. I've also had to learn to climb differently. I now have to pay more attention and put less weight on my left foot, which is permanently weaker. All in all, I have become a better climber as a result of the accident!"

Let's Practice!

What words can you use to discuss Danielle's experience?

Instructions: Read the clues. Find the word that correctly completes each sentence. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

Words

1. You have _____ when you continue to put forth an effort.
2. When you _____, you climb a mountain.
3. When you are an _____, you are very interested in a particular subject.
4. When you hold something tightly, you have good _____.
5. If you are _____, you don't accept defeat; you are a persistent person.
6. When you complete a plan or expectation, you _____ it.
7. When you show _____, you have the ability to give your time and energy to something.

V	F	A	B	A	J	Q	I	K	L	V	P	T	K	M
W	P	V	O	T	E	N	A	C	I	O	U	S	V	B
H	E	W	A	T	C	J	T	W	D	Z	W	T	P	V
H	R	Y	A	I	Y	Q	Y	J	E	D	D	S	Y	Z
S	S	K	P	Q	B	Q	G	X	D	X	D	A	H	V
X	I	A	I	P	P	I	H	A	I	C	F	I	B	B
N	S	L	R	G	Z	N	M	J	C	E	Z	S	B	W
L	T	U	G	D	P	U	G	H	A	W	J	U	Z	B
L	E	U	D	I	D	B	Z	R	T	O	X	H	U	P
A	N	P	F	U	L	F	I	L	L	V	K	T	B	E
H	C	X	M	U	A	T	N	T	O	I	B	N	B	G
U	E	R	Y	H	W	Y	F	Q	N	G	A	E	D	U
F	J	B	A	G	D	Z	Y	W	Y	B	T	X	R	L
B	R	X	O	Z	B	L	Y	M	E	L	A	C	S	A
H	O	Q	I	H	R	G	I	G	I	C	E	U	M	K

Let's Practice!

Let's check some other excerpts from the news report on Danielle!

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Circle the incorrect words. Read the sentences aloud. Practice reading them aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. In a world when there is so much pessimism, she never once lost her positive outlook.
2. She is back on the mountain and enters competitions whoever she travels.
3. She is willing to go anyhow good climbing can be found.
4. Everywhen she goes, people ask her how she manages to do it.
5. In a world what losing your faith is easy, Danielle showed determination and courage to move ahead.

Extension Activity

Research and write about adventurous accomplishments.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Research ten adventurous accomplishments.
- Write a sentence to describe each one (i.e. Neil Armstrong walked on the moon.)
- Insert some extra information into each one by adding a relative clause (e.g. Neil Armstrong, who was from the United States, walked on the moon).
- Read your ten sentences to a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I research adventurous moments in history.

☐ ☐

I create sentences in the past tense.

☐ ☐

I use relative clauses.

☐ ☐

I share my work with a partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- persistence (noun): the act of continuing to put forth an effort
e.g. Danielle claims her success is due to dedication and persistence.
- to scale (verb): to climb
e.g. She was scaling a steep cliff with two other enthusiasts.
- enthusiast (noun): someone who is very interested in a particular subject e.g. The climbing enthusiasts met every week to practice.
- grip (noun): to hold something very tightly
e.g. She lost her grip and fell.
- tenacious (adjective): unwilling to accept defeat; persistent e.g. Danielle, who had always had a tenacious spirit, was determined to walk again.
- to fulfil (verb): to complete something that was planned or expected e.g. Today, Danielle is fulfilling her dream.
- dedication (noun): the ability to give a lot of time and energy to something
e.g. Danielle claims her success is due to dedication and persistence.

Learning Points

Non-Defining Relative Clauses

Relative clauses are used to connect two separate clauses into a single sentence. They are also used to add information. Non-defining relative clauses provide more information about a noun. However, this information is not needed to understand which noun is being talking about.

Non-defining relative clauses can relate to the subject or object. For this kind of clause, the relative pronoun must be used. You cannot use that in a non-defining relative clause, but always which for an object and who for a person.

Non-defining relative clauses can be placed after the subject of the sentence.

Example:

Danielle, who was an expert climber, broke both her legs in a climbing accident.

The hospital, which specializes in mountaineering injuries, was two hours away by helicopter.

Non-defining relative clauses are placed after the object.

Example:

The doctors spoke with Danielle, who looked to be in a lot of pain.

The doctors thought it was an amazing recovery, which is extremely rare with this type of injury.

Examples:

- Danielle, who had always had an tenacious spirit, was determined to walk again.
- I now have to pay more attention and put less weight on my left foot, which is permanently weaker.
- Several years ago, Danielle, who is an expert climber, survived a fall from one of the tallest mountain peaks in Alaska.
- She spent over a year in the local hospital, which specializes in mountaineering injuries, and then several months in a wheelchair.

Learning Points

Adverbial Clause of Place

An adverbial clause is a group of words which have the same function as an adverb. Like all clauses, an adverbial clause has a subject and a verb.

Adverbial clauses of place are used to express where something happens. An adverb of place often starts with a preposition like in, on or near.

You can use a subordinating conjunction like anywhere, everywhere, where or wherever to introduce the adverbial clause.

Example:

Danielle tries to climb a mountain wherever she travels to. She is willing to travel anywhere mountains can be found.

Examples:

- In a world where there is so much pessimism, she never once lost her positive outlook.
- Everywhere she goes, people ask her how she manages to do it.
- She is willing to go anywhere good climbing can be found.
- She is back on the mountain and enters competitions wherever she travels.

